

Selling Terms & Verification Norms

Applicable to all purchases of natural diamonds and diamond jewellery from private sellers.
Effective August 2026.

1. The indicative range

You submit the details of your piece, photographs and the laboratory certificate, if you have one. Our team reviews the submission and emails your indicative range. This is usually the same day, or the next business day depending on your time zone.

The indicative range is priced from the parameters you provide — shape, carat, colour, clarity and certification. It is an estimate, not a final offer, and it is not generated automatically on screen.

2. In-person verification

Once we have your details and you wish to proceed, we share the details of our partner in your region and arrange an appointment.

Jewellery has to be shown in person. The valuation is carried out right in front of you, and the final price is confirmed at that meeting against the same parameters used for your indicative range.

3. When a laboratory test is required

If our expert is not satisfied with the in-person verification, he may advise sending the stone to a laboratory for verification in your name.

Once the laboratory approves the stone as natural, we accept it at the agreed price. The purchase is conditional on that laboratory approval.

All non-certified stones must be verified by a laboratory before purchase.

4. Certification charges

SITUATION	CHARGES BORNE BY
Certified stone sent to the lab on our expert's advice, and confirmed natural	Raremonds
Stone sent to the lab and found not to be natural	Seller
Non-certified stone, laboratory verification mandatory	Seller

5. How laboratory results affect your price

Before the stone is sent to the laboratory, we give you an indicative range.

Once the results are received, that range may go up or down depending on the grades returned. In every case the stone must be natural for the purchase to proceed.

6. Payment, and declining

Once a price is agreed, payment reaches you within 24 to 48 hours by bank transfer.

If you decline, the jewellery or stone is returned to you.

7. What we purchase

Diamond rings, earrings, necklaces, pendants, bracelets and loose diamonds – certified or uncertified, modern or inherited. We value both the diamonds and the precious metal of the piece.

We purchase natural diamonds only. We do not purchase lab-grown stones, and we do not purchase gold-only items: every piece must contain diamonds.
